HOLD ROMAN BANQUET
AT CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL

Mrs. Elise Beaton, Latin instructor at Carmel High School, threw a Roman Banquet for student members of the Latin Club Tuesday at the high school. Keeping to an "Ides of March" theme, the students wore appropriate costume while consuming a roast pig done up in Roman style.

Shown in the photos above are the slaves arriving with the roast pig. Left to right, front, Gerald McDonald, Arthur Page; rear, John King and Timmy Davis. Lower photo, reclining at the table are, left to right, Nancy Nutter, Ann Thoeni, Robert Streeseuth, Ron Stoney and Diana Horne.

Letter

Dear Editor:

... I feel that it is only fair and wise at this time to clarify the situation as it relates to the use or non-use of the Joe's Taxi and Bus Terminal by the B.R.T. bus service between Carmel and Monterey.

Mrs. Oliveira of Joe's Taxi had nothing whatever to do with B.R.T.'s decision not to use her terminal, other than to insist that if they did so continue to use it for the Monterey Bus they should also continue to pay the agreed monthly rental...

By reason of a dispute over an equipment contract entered into with B.R.T. by Joe Oliveira shortly before his death, the Monterey Bus manager ment had not paid its terminal rental for the first several months of 1949. The contract in question and the terminal rental agreement were entirely separate and unrelated transactions.

When, for Mrs. Oliveira's account and in all seeming fairness and equity, demand was made on B.R.T. for payment of the agreed rentals if they chose to continue using the taxi terminal, the decision of the B.R.T. management was to make public announcement instead that they would no longer use the Joe's Taxi terminal. This decision, naturally, deprived the Carmel customers of the Monterey bus line of the warmth, shelter and conveniences of the terminal and its roofed runway.

Again in all fairness, the Monterey manager should not be charged with this decision which has inconvenienced Carmel. We understand that since the death of Joe Miller, who was the founder of B.R.T. and an old friend of Joe Oliveira's, the actual management of the bus line in Monterey rests in a board of trustees in San Francisco, who have full but distant control of the Monterey operation. The Monterey operation manager very naturally follows their instructions.

It should be noted further that Mrs. Oliveira of Joe's Taxi, who has served Carmelites most faithfully for many years, has authorized her attorneys, Hudson, Martin, Ferrante and Street, to work out with the B.R.T. any compromise settlement which will again permit their passengers to have the conveniences of the Joe's Taxi Terminal when they ride the Monterey Bus, on a basis fair to all interests involved.

I feel that Carmel will appreciate having the above information on this matter, from the Carmel standpoint.

Very truly yours,
NOYES MCKAY, Consultant to the Administratrix for Joe's Taxi.

By CERF ANDSAND

CARMICHAEL BEARDSLEE

With the news that Dick Beardslee, of Carmel, and his compadre, the inimitable Carmichael (see cut), left Monday for a month's stay in New York and Connecticut, it calls to mind the flurry of interest engendered by our use of Carmichael as "Who Is It?" material several months ago. The SPECTATOR is still getting requests for issues which ran Carmichael's photo and life's story. Dick dropped into the office Saturday to bid us farewell. He informed us that he received, in response to the Carmichael story, letters and postcards from such far-flung places as Honolulu, New York and Shanghai, which leaves The SPECTATOR staff feeling cosmopolitan as all hell...

The Bank of Carmel reports its deposits, as of now, are $700,000 ahead of the peak of last Summer, which leaves us with two conclusions, both of them happy:

1. The village is growing healthier month by month, reflecting a strong economic foundation. 2. The "tourist season" is starting earlier...

We have been using a Polaroid one-minute camera for picture coverage several months now, and are well satisfied with results. After learning how to use the camera, we found that even scenic photos could be taken with it, but, of course, its main use is for last minute happenings we wish to cover. Carmel Cartoonist Jimmy Hatlo also has a Polaroid camera and reports that it has been a definite time-saver for him. Jimmy formerly had to make studied sketches of posture, hands expressions, wrinkles in clothing, etc., but now he merely has his wife, secretary, gardener or whoever is available pose for a one-minute camera shot, giving him a more complete picture than if he had sketched for perhaps a half hour...

Tipped off on pay day that professional gamblers, posing as soldiers, would be working Fort Ord, Military Police kept a close tab on activities in day rooms and barracks, and were rewarded for their vigilance by catching six men in the act of "cleaning up." Five of the six civilians were apprehended on pay day night while impersonating soldiers and allegedly gambling with crooked dice and cards.

For some time now, Bettie Greene has been tethering her riding horses to a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. pole at Fifth and Junipero, Carmel. For some time now, Lawrence Rose, manager of PG&E's Carmel office, has tried to get her to stop doing so. Mr. Rose turned his complaint over to Carmel Police Department this week. The horses have not damaged the pole in any way, he explained, but they "interfere with the company's proper maintenance." The police called on Bettie, the stable operator, last week.

The report written on the incident was a pure gem.

"Bettie was at once contacted by CPD and gave her assurance - with a sigh - that henceforth she would moor her mounts elsewhere" the report stated.

CAL - TECH REGISTRAR TO SHOW PALOMAR FILM ON PENINSULA

Winchester Jones, registrar of California Institute of Technology, with Mrs. Jones, will arrive in Carmel Sunday, March 26, as the guests of the Carmel Art Association. Mr. Jones will show the film, "Story of Palomar," to students at Carmel High School, Monterey Union High School and Monterey Peninsula College, and to members and guests of the Art Association. The film depicts the development and use of the giant telescope at the Mount Palomar Observatory in Southern California. While here, the registrar will interview students who are interested in following a scientific curriculum at Cal - Tech.

BEACH PURCHASE FUND TOTALS $3,773

A total of $3,773 has been collected from peninsulites for the Carmel River beach acquisition, according to Horace Lyon, treasurer of the Point Lobos League. Tentative goal for private subscriptions has been set at $25,000, although the drive for funds has been, more or less, postponed until termination of the current American Red Cross campaign. Mr. Lyon also reports that $409 has been collected for the campaign and publicity fund.

Meanwhile it was revealed this week that members of the Carmel Art Association and Carmel Crafts Guild, under the chairmanship of Artist John Cunningham, are making plans for a benefit and exhibit of paintings and crafts, revenue from which would go into the beach acquisition fund. Mr. Cunningham was unavailable for comment at the time this publication went to press, but it was understood that the benefit will be held in "about a month."

CUBAN PIANIST TO APPEAR IN CARMEL

The Musical Art Club of the Monterey Peninsula will present Raimondo Llada, a Cuban pianist, at its next concert, on Sunday, March 26, at 8:15 p.m., at the Carmel Woman's Club.

how the twig is bent so grows the tree—

There is a time-old saying that, "As the twig is bent, so grows the tree." This wise saying is especially applicable to children. Many parents who notice defects of health and posture in their children often resort to the wishful thought that "he will grow out of it." As a matter of fact, the children usually "grow into it."

The fact is that not only young children, but even babies are regularly under our care. It is a revealing sight to observe how the average child enjoys a chiropractic adjustment. Once the child realizes that we are not going to stick any needles into his body he looks forward, with great pleasure, to his visit.
If parents could only realize the great importance that chiropractic plays in maintaining the health and bodies of little children, they would place "visit to the chiropractor" high on their list of reminders.

CARMEL BUSINESS ASS'N TAKE STAND AGAINST ZONING QUESTION

In its quarterly meeting last week, the Carmel Business Association voted 100 percent in favor of a no vote on the advisory question regarding extension of guest houses, accomodating more than four paying guests, into the Carmel residential zone.

Approximately 80 members and guests attended the dinner meeting, which was held at the Mission Ranch.

Members also voted to send a letter to postal authorities in Washington, D.C., citing the need of improved Carmel Post Office facilities.

Dr. Joseph Blacow, of Monterey Peninsula College, was the main speaker of the evening, stressing the need for more "salesmanship" in present-day business. The current Red Cross campaign was explained by Ivy Lauer, while Francis Whitaker, president of the Point Lobos League, asked support of the drive for funds in the proposed acquisition of the Carmel River Beach.

Inside WASHINGTON

MARCH OF EVENTS

To Spend Fifty Million
For Air 'Warning' Fence

U. S. Lacks Jet Transport
For Atom Age Conflict

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—The Air Force is going all out to complete its defense network for the United States and Alaska.

To get the first phase in workable shape as quickly as possible, the AF has taken 50 million dollars, earmarked for other defense needs, and pushed it into the warning "fence." Need for the Alaskan warning fence is obvious, since Russia can be seen across a narrow body of water from such spots as Nome.

Invading Russian planes, for instance, could cross the narrow Bering Straits into American territory in a matter of seconds, not minutes.

The warning system would probably prove ineffectual for Alaska alone, but would prove its worth in setting up a warning of invasion to other parts of the continent, including the United States itself.

Of the $50 millions now set aside for the project, $18,800,000 will be used for construction of facilities in the United States. The remaining $31,200,000 is being devoted to the Alaskan stations in aircraft control and warning chain.

The AF funds are coming from the department's regular 1950 appropriations. Congress undoubtedly will get a chance to rush more funds into the work before it goes home this summer.

Washington

● NOT ENOUGH JET TRANSPORTS—Top government aviation authorities are gravely concerned that a war emergency may find the United States without the fast air transport an atom age conflict will demand.

Their worry hasn't been broadcast but a paragraph in the recent report of the Air Co-ordinating Committee tipped it off.

ACM representatives of leading aviation branches of the government told Congress something should be done at once about building jet-propelled transports.

The air group and other aviation leaders have pointed out that United States supremacy in jet combat planes could be rendered meaningless if this country doesn't have the jet transports to support the combat operations with troops and supplies.

The catch is that no plane-building company has enough money to finance construction of the first prototype, which might cost $25 millions.

● THE PRESIDENT AND SENATOR DOWNEY—The Democratic high command won't say but President Truman and Democratic National Chairman William Boyle had something to do with the premature announcement that Senator Sheridan Downey (D), California, would not seek renomination.

As soon as word got to the White House that Downey was considering stepping out of the primary, where Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas (D), California, is seeking the senatorial nomination, the president was delighted.

Downey for some time has been sort of a thorn in the side of the administration, whereas Mrs. Douglas has gone 100 per cent down the line with the Truman program, and, as one politico put it,
"then some!"

So an administration leader in the Senate started word that Downey was going to quit. A few hours later a Democratic national leader from California declared, emerging from the president's office, that Downey had decided not to run again.

This produced in the pint-sized, somewhat stubborn Downey an angry eruption. He changed his mind, and announced that he had not yet decided on his political course. Chances are he now will run.

Result is that the California Democrats are split wide open coming into the 1950 campaign. James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late president, wanted to run for governor with Mrs.
Douglas on the ticket as senatorial candidate.

With the result in doubt, Republican-Democratic Gov. Earl Warren, 1948 GOP vice presidential candidate, appears a shoo-in to succeed himself to Sacramento.

Youth Center Director

Jack Giles, shown above with his wife, Bonnie, will take over as director of the Carmel Youth Center when the building is completed sometime in June. They will reside in an apartment in the Youth Center building and Mrs. Giles will aid her husband in his work. Residents of Carmel since 1944, when Bonnie came to the West Coast from New Jersey to join Jack, then stationed at Fort Ord, the young couple has participated actively in local sports. Jack, currently employed with M. J. Murphy, has worked with the Carmel Boys Club and is manager of the Girls Club softball team. He is a member of Carmel American Legion, while Bonnie heads the Legion Auxiliary. Jack has won athletic awards in track (Penn Relays and Princeton Alumni Meet) as well as letters in baseball, football, basketball and polo.

GOING THE WHOLE FROG?

When they applied for a sign permit for "La Rana" guest house, on Dolores between 4th and 5th, John and Blanche Hall asked City Building Inspector Floyd Adams about a point of policy in Carmel. The question was whether their sign, a representation of a frog, could have luminous paint on the eyes. The request was not formal. Granting the regular sign application, Carmel City Fathers took a dim view of the fluorescent frog. "They just want the eyes NOW," said Councilman Craig, voicing his fear that the Halls may decide to go the whole frog.

Plans for remodeling and modernization of the Carmel American Legion Hall were approved during the regular monthly business meeting recently of Post 512. A total of $735 and several hundred hours of work were donated and pledged by the 45 members present at the meeting.

Carmel Clubs to Help Stage St Patrick's Day Carnival

The Lions and Kiwanis Clubs of Carmel are going to play an important role in presenting the St. Patrick's Day Carnival to families on the Monterey Peninsula at the USO in Monterey Friday night.

Both clubs will man booths and the Lions will donate prizes to the carnival, which will be won by those attending. Others in Carmel will have much to do with the success of the Carnival, including the newly-formed Rotary Club, members of the Soroptimists and other women's organizations.

Mayor Leslie K. Smith, of Monterey, has been crowned King of the Carnival and the GSO Girls have agreed to be the partners of those patronizing the dance, for which a splendid orchestra from the Elks lodge of Monterey will furnish the music.

John Wyle, director of the USO, wants to make it plain that it will be open house Friday night, with everyone on the peninsula invited, and there will be no charge at the door. It is free to everyone.

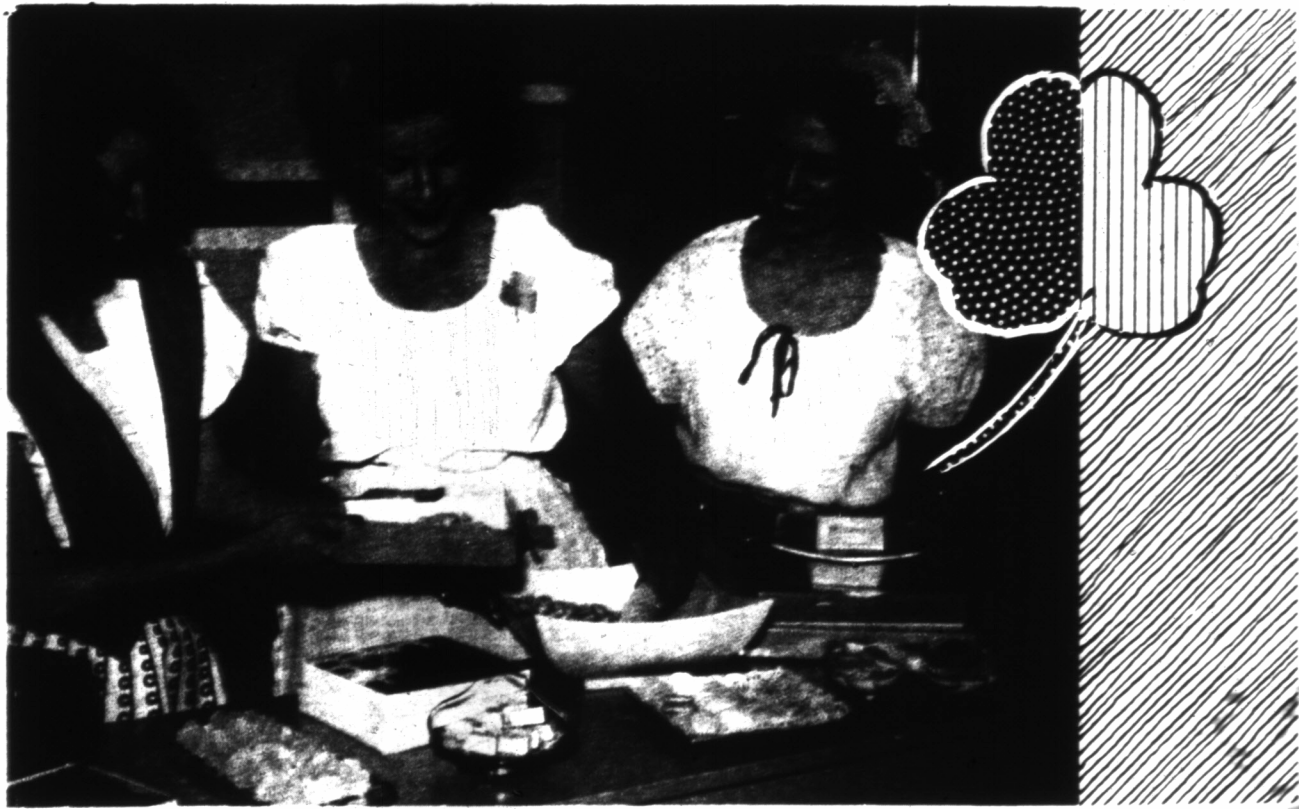

The idea of the carnival is to acquaint residents of the peninsula with the fine work being done by the USO in entertaining some 20,000 men of the Armed Services with nightly programs. These servicemen willingly gave over this one night to civilians, although servicemen also will be among the crowd that will see the carnival.

More than 20 civic clubs and other organizations on the peninsula, including those in Carmel, Seaside, Monterey and Pacific Grove, are helping to make this event a success.

Judge Ray Baugh will be the auctioneer and barkers will include Sid Crispin, Joe Gaston and Steve Magyar. Emmett G. McMennamin is chairman of the prize committee. The hall will be decorated in green, with the walls literally covered with shamrocks. Mrs. Martha Bentley, of Seaside, is chairman of a large committee that has charge of the carnival.

The SPECTATOR is the fastest growing paper on the peninsula.

More than 80 members of the American Women's Voluntary Services will contribute candy and cookies for the AWVS booth in the St. Patrick's Day Carnival Friday at 8 p.m. in the USO in Monterey. Above, Mrs. Clyde B. Thompson, of Seaside, Mrs. Donald S. Cramer, of the Navy General Line School, and Mrs. George Webb, of Carmel, are seen preparing the booth. They are members of a committee which includes the Mesdames Edward W. Cochrane, chairman; J. L. Hansen, Philip Grant, James Park, Josephine Johnson, D. D. Stofer, James Moore, T. W. Allen, S. I. Wilson, Helen Clark Park, Thelma Witherell, Walter C. Adams, Charlotte Collins, Frank Ringland, Miss Margareta Park and Miss Diana Burke. Polaroid One-Minute Photo.

ST. JAMES AUXILIARY DISCUSSES AID FOR HOME AND FOREIGN GROUPS

A business meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. James' Episcopal Church, Monterey, was held on Wednesday evening, March 8, in the parish hall.

The reading of the Lenten Requisitions from diocesan headquarters in San Francisco stimulated a discussion of both the foreign assignment for St. Luke's Hospital, Tokyo, and for the home missions in Nevada and Arizona. The ladies voted to comply with the requests for baby clothes and nurses' uniforms for Japan; for warm clothing for adults of the Good Shepherd Mission at Fort Defiance, Arizona; and for new material for use in making quilts by the Indian women of St. Mary's Mission in Nixon, Nevada. Contributions will be acceptable until June 1.

Mrs. Vincent Coletta gave a splendid report of the Day of Prayer conducted by the United Church Council of Women at the Presbyterian Church, Monterey on Feb. 24.

St. Patrick was honored by the hostesses, Mrs. R. F. Peace and Mrs. Fred Miller, in their decorations and refreshments.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on March 22 at the home of Mrs. Ian Campbell, 600 Martin Street, Monterey.

WANTS TO STOP LOW-FLYING PLANES

Although C. Edward Groves lives a block from the Carmel City limits, he told the City Council last week by letter that Carmel Woods residents share a problem with the village: the problem of low-flying aeroplanes.

On enforcement, he conceded that nothing short of an anti-aircraft gun would be 100 percent effective.

However, the City Council decided to appeal to the Civil Aeronautics Authority to stop commercial planes from flying at 300 feet over Carmel, when a city ordinance clearly orders planes to stay a full thousand feet above the village. What brought it home to the council was the portion of Grove's letter expressing the thought that low-flying planes did even more to destroy the Carmel atmosphere than having four guests in a rooming house.

THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT has a watch that will more than satisfy the most discriminating purchaser. It is the OMEGA CENTURY Automatic Chronometre, beautifully designed, in 18 K solid gold, with hand-made Swiss calf strap and 18 K solid gold buckle. The Omega watches have won more awards for timing in Swiss Observatory than any other watches, and are considered the most accurate wristwatch manufactured. The beautiful Omega Century comes in a Sterling silver case - which gives you a stunning cigarette box for your home. THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT, Carmel, also has a companion line to the Omega, the Mathey Tissot.

nos petits secrets

By Janine

After a somewhat wavering tendency, hair stylists seem to have found the perfect tune of poise, neatness and style. As you know, the big Keynote is the uncovered nape. Have you looked at yours lately? Nothing destroys the good look of those new hair-dos like a fat back of the neck. You can make it thinner by massaging every day as follows: Put your thumbs under your chin; keep them absolutely still. Place the four other joined fingers on the back of your neck and alternately move them swiftly from the hair roots down toward the shoulders (15 to 20 times). You might take a few minutes from your sleep, but won't you be pleased when you see the result?

There has been a lot of talk lately about the "oeil de biche" (doe-eyed) effect in make-up. Though it has been much praised I am not in favor of it. It is a very delicate operation that requires an expert touch and a light hand - so light that the slightest heaviness will make your eyes look sooty and grotesque. Some of your friends might even be tempted to hand you a damp wash cloth. Anyway, who wants to look like a 1920 vamp?

I am pleased to know that some men are reading "Nos Petits Secrets," and in answer to their request for a French recipe, I offer garlic soup: Peel and chop two large heads of garlic; saute until pale golden brown in 1/4 pound butter. Stir in one rounded tablespoon of flour. Add about 6 cups of water and 3 large diced potatoes. Let simmer until potatoes are tender. Then pass through a sieve. Return to saucepan; add salt and pepper to taste. Serve with croutons and lots of grated Swiss cheese. This is a surprise soup because it is very delicate in flavor... Let me know if you like it.

CREA AWARDS SCHOLARSHIP TO CARMEL YOUTH

James P. McNeill, Jr., son of Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. James P. McNeill, of Carmel, has been named for the Glen D. Willaman Real Estate Foundation scholarship to the University of California, it was announced Monday during a meeting of the Carmel Board of Realtors. The scholarship is for graduate work in the school of business and its presentation was made Saturday at Berkeley.

The California Real Estate Association established the scholarship in honor of Mr. Willaman, who was secretary of the association for 25 years. Gladys Johnston and Wright Fisher, directors of CREA, and Corum Jackson, attended the presentation meeting in Berkeley.

MONTEREY COUNTY SPCA PROMOTES HUMANE EDUCATION

With the placement of many animals in homes, by the Monterey County Humane Society, and other organizations on the peninsula, the society feels that "Humane Education," especially among children, is most important.

The society has capable demonstrators who are sent upon request to junior groups, giving demonstrations, lectures and movies on pets, with arrangements to extend this service throughout the entire Monterey County.

The Junior SPCA accepts members to 18 years of age, through group advisors, pet stores, and the Monterey Humane shelter.

The current contest on PET APPEAL has stimulated much interest on the peninsula.

CARMEL CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE

Leonard R. Carey

(This is the second of five articles on the background, aims and personalities of candidates for election to the Carmel City Council on the April 11 ballot. Watch for them each week. - Editor.)

By Bill Martin

Leonard R. (Red) Carey, candidate for election to the Carmel City Council, states his campaign promise simply:

"If elected, I will do everything I can for the good of the people and the city."

He feels campaign promises have little meaning when they refer to specific issues that cannot be resolved by one man alone. To face each issue honestly as it arises, mindful of the interests of the majority, is of first importance, he said.

His municipal experience includes a two-year stint with the Salinas Planning Commission during a period when he acted as business agent in Monterey County for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Born on a farm near Lima, Ohio, in 1902, Mr. Carey followed the famous admonition, "Go West, young man," when he was only 16 years old. He stayed for about a year in Spokane, Washington, but has been a Californian for the past 30 years.

He worked for 10 years with the Fisher Body Co. in Oakland, then moved to San Jose to manage the branch office for the Pacific Truck Service. He accepted his position with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters at the beginning of the war and, in 1942, married the former Frances Badami, of San Jose. Mr. Carey has two daughters by a previous marriage: Miss Colleen Carey, 23, and Mrs. Patricia Allen, 21, of Richmond, who made a grandfather of him not long ago.

The candidate acquired various management-labor negotiations during the war and was asked to join the Salinas Planning Commission because of this experience. "When it got to the point that neither the employer nor the employee would make any concessions, I got fed up and quit my job," he said. In line with this, he feels that labor, "If it keeps going like it has, will lose everything it has gained in past years."

Mr. Carey purchased the Carmel Laundry on Nov. 1, 1944, and has lived in the village ever since.

He is a member of the Carmel Lions Club and treasurer of Carmel Associated Sportsmen, Inc., and incidentally an enthusiastic hunter and fisherman.

He tried to enlist in the Army during World War I, but reports that he didn't fool anyone about his age. He was 16 years old when that war ended and a little too old for World War II.

To meet present and future housing needs in Carmel, he recommends construction of apartment buildings in the business district. He also feels that restrictive measures should be taken against certain types of businesses which have been permitted to multiply so rapidly that no one concerned "can make a living."

Mr. Carey said Carmelites cannot ignore the tremendous increase in population during recent years, and that administration of the city government must take into account the fact that this is no longer the village of 20 years ago. Safety and policing problems require installation of street lights at certain dark corners in the business district, he said, although this would not be necessary in the residential area.

With all this, Mr. Carey is convinced that Carmel must strive to maintain the unique character that has made it famous.

"We can accommodate new people," he declared, "and still retain the village atmosphere, as long as we keep a close watch on the threat of commercialization."

"New residents are not harmful to Carmel," he commented, "but the introduction of heavy commercial enterprises would be."

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS TO HOLD ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARTY TOMORROW

Court Carmel Mission of the Catholic Daughters of America wishes to extend an invitation to their friends and all good Irishmen of the peninsula, and especially of Carmel, to be present at their annual St. Patrick's Day Party at the Mission Ranch in Carmel on Friday night at 8 p.m.

Highlight of the evening will be the play, "My Wild Irish Rose," written by Mrs. Thomas Branson and directed by Lee Crowe. Besides the one-act play there will be singing of old Irish ballads, games for the younger children, dancing for the teen-agers, music and a short concert for adults, refreshments, fun and food for all.

Leading roles in "My Wild Irish Rose" will be played by Ruth McElroy and Larry Rose. Some of the other players are Carl Densberg, Benita Updike, Mary McElroy, Margaret Tescher, Billie Burke, Ladisla Narvaez, Pamela Deale, Sandra Crab, Tom Branson, Sr. and Leon Penetta. The leading juvenile roles will be played by Linsey Crosby and Billy Powell.

Mrs. Kathleen Branson, the talented authoress of the playlette, was born in the United States, but was raised and educated in Ireland. As a girl, living there with her parents in County Roscommon, she attended school in Sligo for a number of years.

Mrs. Ben Updike is general chairman of the St. Patrick's Day committee and she will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Sieve, reception; Mrs. Charles Scoville, entertainment, and Mrs. John Van der Valk, publicity. Mrs. Van der Valk is a former SPECTATOR columnist, writer of "Link Letters," a column about golf here on the peninsula.

AUDUBON SCREEN TOUR TO FEATURE "MIDNIGHT MOVIES"

The Audubon Society announces a unique type of lecture and motion picture for its screen tour tonight, at Sunset School auditorium. The lecturer will be Howard Cleaves, whose subject - "Midnight Movies in Animaland" - treats of the nocturnal habits of wild animals in their haunts.

Audubon members will give a dinner in honor of the speaker preceding the lecture at Mission Ranch. Those desiring to attend should notify Mrs. Isabelle Terhune, telephone 7-6028.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Calvin C. Flint, president of Monterey Peninsula College, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" MPC's young chief executive received his AB and MA degrees from Stanford University and has completed all work on his doctor's degree except the dissertation. He came to the peninsula upon establishment of the junior college a few years ago, and now lives in Carmel with his wife, Lenore. Mr. Flint was dean of Santa Ana Junior College when the first pre-flight school was established in Santa Ana, and he was named head of the academic department by the military during early World War II. Later, as a lieutenant, he went to Washington, D.C., to become executive officer of the Arctic, Desert and Tropic Information Center. Following several stateside posts, he was assigned to the operations section of the Twentieth Air Force as executive officer. He was in on the bombing of Japan from B-29's, and is a veteran of the Iwo Jima campaign. Mr. Flint is now a lieutenant colonel in Military Intelligence, in the active reserve of the CIC. His past has been exciting and his experiences varied. He holds a general contractor's license, and was a general contractor in Southern California. He spent 27 months at sea in the Merchant Marine, visited most of the world's ports, and at one time was an instructor at University of Turkey, teaching U.S. and European history there in French. For three years Mr. Flint attended the Sorbonne in Paris, and he once bicycled 3,000 miles through the Balkans. He has lived in China, Japan and Egypt...

Young Doris Murrillo shows film actress, Barbara Hale, how far she has progressed under treatment by the California Society for Crippled Children. Looking on is occupational therapist, Lily Thye. The Society's 1950 Easter Seal campaign to raise funds for care and treatment of crippled youngsters throughout California is being held this month.

These are wondrous times in which many strange events occur. For instance, a Miami newspaper headlined the story of a Florida cold wave.

In New York 350,000 crowded to see Hopalong Cassidy. That fellow always was good on the draw.

Carmel Council Wants To Re-Allocate City Insurance

Thirteen Carmel firms sell insurance: Three of the 13 control all but one of the policies on city-owned property, with the office of P. A. McCreery issuing the majority of the policies.

On Wednesday of last week, Carmel City Councilman Andy Martin brought the matter forcibly to the council's attention, as City Clerk Peter Mawdsley submitted an insurance renewal to Mayor Fred Godwin.

"Aren't we going to call for bids?" asked Martin. "Is it city policy to give a monopoly on insurance? I say for the record, I would like to see insurance parcelled out impartially to all the agents. And I don't sell insurance myself. I don't think a few people should get all the business."

By sheer co-incidence, a man who had tackled the city on the same subject, Insurance Man Robert Little, was in the audience. Little was interested in some drainage matters.

To him, members of the council appealed for action. They asked that insurance men in Carmel get together, form an association, and allocate the insurance business on a different basis.

A former such organization had broken up, reportedly, because its members could not agree, but Little said he believed a new association could be formed to the advantage of the city.

GODWIN DEPLORES LACK OF CARMEL STREET IMPROVEMENTS

Deploing the attitude of certain Carmel residents, Mayor Fred Godwin told the City Council last week the city would have to pay the piper some day.

"Many of our streets have never been improved," he declared. "And some day, Carmel will find itself with a fancy bond issue to fix those streets."

He spoke during a discussion on drainage problems, made especially acute by a lack of adequate facilities to carry off water in the necessary volume.

The Wheelers plan to remain on the Continent for several months before returning to their Pebble Beach home.

Jonas Recital

By Henry Dunkin

A capacity house gathered in Sunset Auditorium on Friday evening for the Carmel Music Society's presentation of Maryla Jonas, outstanding Polish artist, in a recital of piano music not to be forgotten soon ...

Here was a program rounded to fit the varied tastes of any discriminating group -- The Classicists were the happy recipients of two little known works: The "Passacaglia in G Minor" of Handel, and the "Capriccio in D Minor" of W. F. Bach. Each of these was rendered with high fidelity as to period and style. Mozart's little "Sonata in A Major" was played as well as has been heard in a number of years. The "Italianate CANTILENA" was perfectly drawn in the first two movements, while the Rondo Alla Turca held its fire without being forfeited to the lachrymose of the Sonata's structure. Fine work!

The Romanticists of the audience came into their realm with Beethoven's "Sonata No. 2, Op. 31." Miss Jonas' interpretation of this work was alien to any I had heard before. Emphasis seems to have been on lyricism, whereas most pianists strive to bring out Beethoven's virility through a technique that borders very close to bombasticism. For the total effect, Miss Jonas gave us a moving performance of a work too seldom played. Fame has established our artist as the ideal Chopin interpreter ... indeed, she is. Her "Nocturne" was one of the loveliest ever to have come my way. Her two "Waltzes" were clean and polished. Next, we had three "Mazurkas" ... that tricky little Polish dance whose choppy rhythms continued from page 14 and ternary form cause constant interest and delight. The program proper ended with the "Grand Polonaise in F Sharp Major." Thank heaven we were spared the "A Flat," for we were able actually to hear what Miss Jonas could do with this style sans the conditioning of too many hackneyed performances.

Four encores were given, a generosity belonging to the old school, seldom to be enjoyed these days. These were more or less little salon pieces, but delivery of each had marked distinction..

This Week We SALUTE: EDNA M. LEWIS

... WHO SOLD LOT NUMBER 30 IN YANKEE POINT ACRES ON THE CARMEL RIVIERA TO MRS. G. L. STEBBINS, OF CARMEL. Miss Lewis was born in Seattle, but attended Fresno High School and Fresno State College, where she majored in music. As an accomplished performer on the saxophone, clarinet and trumpet, she has appeared with many famous all-girl orchestras, playing the Keith-Orpheum Circuit and leading hotels from coast to coast and border to border. She formed her own trio in New York to tour West, and it was while she was playing at the San Carlos Hotel, Monterey, in 1941, that she was invited to join the real estate office of Kenneth L. Smith, of Carmel. Miss Lewis has won numerous cups for tennis and swimming, and she also likes fishing and gardening. Having appeared as a musician many times on the Monterey Peninsula, she had made up her mind years ago to come here to live some day. In all her travels she reports she never saw a more attractive place to live, and the Yankee Point Acres development is high in her estimation of beautiful homesites.
